LONDON.—The long-term economic and monetary cooperation between Great Britain and the United States which we all now hope will follow upon the Anglo-American loan agreement must, if it is to be successful, be buttressed by a political agreement. There can be no full co-operation in a field without a similar co-operation in the other.

Anthony Eden's recent declaration in favor of the abdication of the sovereignty to a world organization received a great cheer from many-eyed sentimentalists all over the world. There were further cheers when Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin came out more decisively than Eden for this policy.

BEVIN WENT FURTHER than Eden, for he proclaimed himself in favor of a world parliament to be elected directly by the people of the world. But though the sentimentalists cheered, political realists knew that such talk was not only premature but futile, since there was no chance whatever of Russia agreeing to the unlimited surrender of her sovereign rights. Is Final Total
Ninth War Loan

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Final total of sales in Canada's Ninth Victory Loan stands at $2,022,473,800, the Finance Minister today announced. Largest loan subscription in the country's history to date, it compares with the $1,568,927,350 worth of bonds bought in the eighth loan.

"THESE FIGURES speak for themselves at home and abroad," Mr. Bevin said, "and they are a tribute to the Canadian people's spirit of sacrifice and their confidence in the future."

Canada's Ninth Victory Loan, launched last October, had a minimum objective of $1,500,000,000, the highest ever. Of that total individual Canadians were asked to subscribe a minimum of $600,000.

The total objective was never surpassed, by approximately 26 per cent, and the individual objective by approximately 30 per cent.

Investment by individuals in the ninth loan amounted to $1,217,341,250, an increase of $38,000,000 over the amount of sales to individuals in the last loan.

THE AMOUNT purchased by large investors, including corporations, amounted to $801,132,550.

A spectacular increase in place in sales on the monthly savings and deferred payment plans exclusive of payroll and assigned pay applications. These purchases now total $1,410,133,750, an increase of approximately $2,000,000.

Traditional Ceremony Ends Lengthy Parliament Session

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP)—The first session of Canada's 20th parliament ended Tuesday when the Commons completed session duties with a last-minute flourish.

Wins Beauty Title

Seventeen-year-old Phyllis Robertson, Campbellville, Ont., was chosen Miss Halton County at a beauty contest sponsored by the town board of trade. "I'm just thrilled," was all Miss Robertson, pretty brunette, could say. "My mother didn't want me to enter the contest, so I don't know what she will say now. Maybe this will help me obtain a spot on a concert program," she said, explaining her ambition was to be a popular singer.

Urges Tax Drop On Canada Mining

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19.—(CP)—

Reduction of taxation on Canada's mining industry was urged yesterday by Sir Henry Drayton, Victoria, former federal finance minister, in an address to the Vancouver branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

"If Canada's mining industry is to be properly carried on," Sir Henry said, "no mining areas discovered and millions of new capital raised to fully develop our natural resources, a very drastic change must be made in our taxation laws."

HE ASSERTED mining will do much to restore normal conditions in the post-war years "unless unhampered by taxation and government regulations."

"The first obligation to afford employment lies in the Dominion government which is today so much in control of all the country's finances," Sir Henry continued. "Mining activity actually multiplies employment... The war is over, and the basis of taxation should no longer be considered from that angle."

"The Dominion does very little for mining companies, much less than the provinces... Even the municipalities do more for the mines than the Dominion does... The mining industry is vital to Canada."

beyond anything we have done before. Mr. Macdonnell called for a "full dress and comprehensive inquiry" into the income tax system.

MR. LILLEY said the government was working on plans for stabilization policy. Many already had been eliminated.

The minister said he expected subsidies paid this year would total much less than in 1944. Total payments between Dec. 1, 1944, and Sept. 30, 1945, were $286,388,670.

Replying to John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, Mr. Lilley said no thought was being given to the discontinuance of meat rationing re-instituted in September, and which Prime Minister Mackenzie King already has indicated will be continued through the winter.

DURING CONSIDERATION of reconstruction estimates, Progressive Conservative and CCF members renewed requests that some body continue between this session and the next the inquiry into the disposal of surplus war assets.

Transport Minister Chevrier, handling estimates in the absence of Reconstruction Minister Howe, said house rules prevented a committee from sitting between sessions.

Figures for German Document

Nazis Admitted Losing 3,544,284 Men Before Ardennes Offensive

NUERNBERG, Dec. 19.—

(AP)—The German army high command admitted secretly just before its last great gamble, the Ardennes counter-attack, that Germany had lost 3,544,284 men killed or missing in action—60 per cent on the Soviet front—in more than five years of war. It was learned yesterday from a Nazi document.

THIS CASUALTY report by the intelligence branch of the German army indicated Hitler publicly told the youth about the low price in Teutonic lives he paid for conquering Poland, but was an inveterate liar thereafter.

The report did not include wounded, but an attached note stated there were 729,051 Wehrmacht wounded and sick in hospital in Germany at the time.

SOVIET OFFICIALS have said German casualties in the east, including dead, wounded, captured and missing, reached 12,000.

The Wehrmacht report covering eastern operations up to Nov. 30, 1944, listed 1,147,128 dead and 967,000 missing.

Military men estimated the wounded usually number four times as many as the dead. Applied to the Wehrmacht report, this formula would mean adding more than 3,500,000 to the dead and missing figure of nearly 2,500,000 for a grand total of approximately 6,000,000 in the east.

HITLER'S LAST public remarks on Wehrmacht losses were made

Aug. 11, 1942, when he said 550,000 Germans had been killed in the war up to that time. He gave no figures for the same period for the Wehrmacht statistics listed 701,734 army, navy and air force dead for the same period—double what Hitler had reported. The formerly highly confidential figure was disclosed last night at the Nuernberg Palace of Justice.

SPECIAL CHART accompanied the tabulations to show the Fuehrer graphically how much German army manpower was expended on the series of fronts from 1939 to the winter of 1944-45. It listed:

Polish campaign—16,843 dead, 320 missing. Hitler himself announced total casualties of 41,503, including wounded, at the conclusion of this 27-day campaign.

AFRICA—169,013 dead (this figure is shared on the phonetic copy) 90,032 missing.

The western front up to June 1, 1944, six days before D-Day—66,106 dead, 32,118 missing. This included the "phoney" war of the winter of 1939-40, seizure of Denmark, Norway, Holland and Belgium and collapse of France, the Dieppe operation and all other ground activity during this period.

WESTERN FRONT from June to Dec. 1, 1944—54,764 dead, 238,033 missing.

South front (Italy and Sicily)—41,873 dead, 97,134 missing.

Southeast front the Balkans and Greek Islands—24,207 dead, 12,000 missing. This included the conquest of Yugoslavia, Greece and Crete and subsequent operations against guerrilla armies. Hitler asserted he won the Balkans with 6,000 casualties.

A BREAKDOWN of losses by services in another table showed the army losing more than 3,000,000 killed by enemy action or missing while the Luftwaffe lost 288,039 and the navy 77,496.

A Birthday Message

At seventy-one, Prime Minister King says he feels better than for many years, and more optimistic about the future course of world events. He is, however, everywhere and of all parties will echo the congratulations and good wishes which were extended by his fellow-members of parliament. Mr. King is among the veteran political leaders of the world. He has been head of the federal cabinet for twenty years, though not in unbroken term. Including of course the last six, the most tragic years in history, and the most outstanding period in the record of the Dominion.

This background accounts in great measure for the cordiality with which members of both houses and all groups joined to mark the birthday of the Prime Minister; as it also gave authority to what he had to say to them, and to the country, on the subject of the secrets of the atom.

These observations fell under two general headings. The first was that Canada should play, and should be allowed to play, in the making of peace treaties. Mr. King had gone overseas in part to secure the support of the British Empire. Britain in asserting the right of this Dominion to be heard in conferences at which the lines are laid down for the future peace with the Axis nations. That support had been secured; but Britain did not always have its way with its colleagues, and there would have been a strong possibility that Canada be recognized as a principal—not merely a minor power—when the treaty conditions were being shaped.

On this point there was no division in parliament, and will be none among the public. Canada is entitled to this recognition by reason of its contribution to the strength of the Allies, in men, equipment and supplies of all kinds. It is not less entitled because it is a member of the great North American, and again because it is the major source of uranium and one of the custodians of the secrets of the atom. These are valid claims, and nothing should be left undone to keep them before the attention of the world.

The other point which Mr. King emphasized was that the atomic bomb has created a new world situation, in which the "peoples of all nations must stand together themselves to the task of helping to devise and shape institutions and relationships which will enable mankind to ensure, if not its salvation, at least its survival."

As for secrecy, "The truth is that no system of safeguarding secrets, however well it itself provide an effective guarantee against production of atomic weapons by a nation bent on aggression. The secrets, scientific and technical, cannot be guarded indefinitely. The basic fact is that the scientists have taken control of human destiny, and political leaders must be adjusted that their discovery will be used for the benefit, and not the destruction, of mankind."

The control commission agreed upon at Washington is only a stop-gap. The United Nations Organization itself has been made obsolete. Something must be done to give a world government will be required to safeguard even the existence of the race. Mr. King is not a man who is likely to openly declare his willingness to forego some measure of national sovereignty in order to set up a new world order. He did not meet with unanimous acceptance in parliament, though the members in great majority endorsed it.

It is to be remembered in this connection that the Prime Minister spoke as one sharing the knowledge—as yet denied to all but a handful of men—of the destructive potentialities of "atomic weapons." That should cause his fellow-Canadians to do something to help him to see the future—underrated by traditions and inborn notions of national self-sufficiency. If a broader world organization is the means by which to get security, what is the answer to the riddle mankind now faces—the stark question of whether we are to, or not to, live?

Coming Our Way?

Calgary police officers are credited in news reports with having discovered that there is a continued movement of prize winners to the country. There is also an outward trek from Vancouver to the prairie community—of persons whom the coastal community is not willing to get rid of.

It is alleged that the Vancouver police are combating a serious outbreak of crime, and are in fact promoting the migration of habitual law-breakers to the prairie. It appeared in the Calgary police court shortly after they dropped of the train. In their behalf the Vancouver police are said to claim that most of them from the prairie and from eastern points, and are only being sent back.

The important point for people in prairie centres is not why this exodus is under way, but the fact that it is. If these centres are being invaded by criminals chased out of Vancouver, the municipal police will have to be on guard. Householders should be careful to see that the doors are locked when they go out or when they are asleep. All and sundry should be aware of the stranger who wants to show them an easy way to make money. Pick-pockets and purse-snatchers are to be watched for. In these and other sufficiently understood ways the public can assist the police in protecting them and their property.

Accessories

It is to be hoped that the United States prosecutors will be successful in their move to arraign six Nazi organizations as criminal bodies, and their members as in some measure responsible for the atrocities of the war. It is not in the court at Nuremberg, somewhere there these organizations should be judiciously investigated and their activities exposed in building up the master machine by which murder and torture were made the political policy and the war policy of the Reich.

The membership of the organizations is said to run anywhere from 600,000 to 2,000,000. That is no reason why they should not be brought to court and their members dealt with according to the measure of their guilt in furthering the criminal purposes for which they were organized, and directed. Quite the contrary. Small-fry Nazis should, so far as practicable, be made to bear their proper share of the blame.

Goering and his pals and Kramer and his kind did not commit all the crimes, nor impose their brutal system unaided. They were only able to do what they did because behind them were these great organizations of lesser men, reinforcing the unholy doctrine of super-racism everywhere.

That these helpers did not know what they were doing is not belief. Likely enough there were dullards among them who neither knew nor cared what the societies they belonged to did. But the "Hitler youth," must have known the nature and ends of the organizations to which they belonged. They should be taught that those who support criminal leaders are themselves accountable in degree.

Yamashita has been given a stay of execution until the Supreme Court at Washington looks into his plea that he should be tried in a civil court in the United States. The representative of the Japanese government desires to make sure that the "tiger" has had or will have a fair hearing.

It did not, of course, just happen that Marshal Stalin returned to Moscow as the conference of foreign ministers got under way. The quite evident fact is that the conference was set for a time when the Marshal would be there on ceremonial duty, and there would be no chance of his being killed.

It is not, of course, rumors that he had died, that his health had broken down, that he had been displaced. That is the nature of the work of the press, and the uncertainty that has arisen abroad regarding Russian aims. Mr. Churchill's remark that "Stalin be trusted" expresses a belief that is widely held.

Boy Fed by Tubes For Five Years

Christmas turkey and mince pie haven't meant a thing to seven-year-old Albert Gagnon of Meadow Lake, Sask. He can only be fed through tubes directly into his digestive system. But next year he hopes to go through a Christmas meal of fare from turkey to salted nuts, and taste every mouthful. Albert, shown here with his panda, "Tommy", is in Toronto General hospital awaiting a complicated operation by which four specialists and the hospital staff hope to remove a three-inch constriction of the esophagus. As a child of two years, he swallowed a quantity of live. He was rushed to the Junior Red Cross hospital at Regina, where his life was saved, but for four years he has been unable to eat in the normal way. Development of techniques in performing operations on the esophagus led the Regina hospital authorities to send the little chap to Toronto, in the hope that he could be restored to normal childhood. The specialists who have agreed to operate and the hospital are making no charge for their services.

Andrew Clergyman Recalls Days As Student in Pioneer Country

BY RAPHEL LOPATKA

ANDREW—One of the pleasures enjoyed by the Rev. Theodore Bay, new clergyman at the Royal Memorial United church at Anxetree, is the ability to recall days when he was a student in pioneer country.

Mr. Bay spent six months in the district during his student years. Since he was in 1913, during his student years, these rugged days, he said, great progress has been made throughout Alberta.

Instead of straw huts, there are comfortable, permanent homes, well-established roads instead of Indian trails. It is quite a difference, he says.

Born in the Western Ukraine, Mr. Bay took his early education there, coming to Canada while still young enough to graduate from Queen's University at Kingston and Knox College in Toronto. The greater part of his ministry has been spent in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. He came here last summer from Calder, Sask. taking up residence with his wife in the recently-built Anxetree home.

OF THREE CHILDREN, two sons, Theodore and Edward have spent five years in the Navy. A daughter, Beth, is attending Victoria College in Toronto. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bay are musically inclined.

The clergyman sings tenor and plays the flute and clarinet while his wife takes a keen interest in orchestra work and rhythm bands.

Mr. Bay conducts services both in Ukrainian and English, his congregation consisting of both nationalities and some Romanians. His Sunday school has an attendance just the 70 mark.

New City Firm to Provide Locker, Freezing Facilities

Preservation of Foods By New System Hailed Throughout Entire World

The quick freezing of foodstuffs and its subsequent storage at low temperatures is hailed by experts and authorities the world over as the most perfect method of preserving food in its original appearance and flavor.

ALL OVER THE UNITED STATES and Canada a new industry has come rapidly into being, which supplies householders with freezing and locker facilities, convenient, sanitary and efficient.

Such a place becomes a reality in Edmonton on Thursday when the Frozen Foods Company 10313 102nd street, throws its doors open to the public.

There is an impression of gleaming whiteness and cleanliness as soon as the door to the new building is opened. The effect, even the earlier date this particular inspection was made, when carpenters, electricians and plumbers were still bustling around the office, is one of absolute cleanliness and an almost dazzling, operating room sanitation.

ALONG THE WALL to the left of the entrance is a row of heavy refrigerated doors, which are in charge, are of a special design giving insulation and irregularly fixed in the ordinary refrigerator door.

In the refrigerators, which can be entered without going behind the counter, are found lockers in which householders' frozen foods can be kept. When all of them are finished there will be 1290 lockers available to the public.

EACH LOCKER will hold, according to Mr. Welch, who is in charge of the building, a quarter of beef, after it has been processed and made into steaks and hamburger. The lockers are of generous size. The measurements are 18 by 18 by 20 inches, so large quantities of other foods can be stored in them.

For those who require more space, there are double-sized lockers available. The single one costs $12 a year and the larger ones are just twice that price, but Mr. Welch claims that this represents the least expensive method of storing food.

FARTHER ALONG, on the same side of the building is the quick-freezing room, in which the foods to be stored are kept for eight hours at a temperature of 25 degrees below zero. This ensures that articles left under the icy blast are frozen right through before they are returned to the storage rooms in which the temperature is held at 0 even zero.

There, there is what Mr. Welch calls the aging and curing room, which is just behind the quick-freezing locker.

"IT IS WELL KNOWN that fresh-to-killed meat is not at all 'beefy,' so we have this room prepared so that meat which has been left hanging for as long as the customer wishes."

Some prefer meat that have aged a few days, while others express a preference for it if it has been hung for as long as three weeks.

Then to complete the assembly there is the packing room, in which pork cuts are placed in the required brines to be brought in to the smoke room, a little room at the other side of the building where the curing of meat is completed.

Large cuts of meat are brought into the building on an overhead track which runs as far as the work room. In this room, the largest one in the building, are benches and butchers blocks and here skilled butchers will cut meat brought in into its constituent parts after it has been aged.

THERE IS A SLIGHT CHARGE for this service, but when the meat has been thus treated, there is no charge. The meat is wrapped in special moisture proof locker paper, each parcel marked with the name of the owner and the weight and nature of its contents. From there it goes to the quick-freezing room and eight or more hours later is transferred to the customer's locker.

When a person rents a locker he is given a set of duplicate keys.

Storage Plant Will Be Open For Inspection

Edmonton's first frozen food locker establishment will be open for public inspection on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. according to an announcement by D. Welch, the manager.

The public is assured of an opportunity to view the operation of this large Western Canadian storage plant and will realize the advantages of this method of food preservation.

Arrangements may be made for a key to be kept in the office of the locker company so that the key always be available. Fruits and vegetables are processed preparatory to freezing in another small division of the food space, which should be ample for the needs of the establishment.

THOUGH REFRIGERATOR service has been available to Edmonton residents, this is the first real locker service offered to them.

D. Welch, who foresees expansion of the business in the very near future to take up another floor and more in the building. There will be some processing of foods for retail sale in frozen foods, he explained, which will add another industry in the city's already impressive list.

Bennett Deplores Agreement Haste

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(Reuters)—Viscount Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, said in the House of Lords yesterday he felt that when it became apparent it was impossible to deal with the United States loan to Britain on the basis of a grant, British emissaries might have withdrawn and left the matter for further consideration without pursuing it on the lines that had been followed.

"Why did we not ask Congress to ratify the document first?" Lord Bennett asked. "For all we know when it comes to be ratified by Congress it might contain terms and conditions not in the document before them."

LORD BENNETT, who as prime minister of Canada called the imperial conference of 1932, was concerned about imperial preferences. Five times, he said, between the 1867 Confederation of Canada and 1896, Canada sought trade agreements with the United States, and sometimes they had agreements which the United States senate would not ratify.

"Preferences in the British Empire were created by the American government and no one else," he said.

Missing Girl Took Boat Trip Up B.C. Coast

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Ruth Alice Watson, pretty 18-year-old Vancouver girl who returned home yesterday after being missing since the night of Dec. 16, in an interview last night said she spent the last week on a boat trip and visit to Prince Rupert, B.C., under assumed names.

Miss Watson, who received her discharge from the Canadian Women's Army Corps the day of her disappearance, said she was feeling "terribly depressed for no reason for a week or so before discharge. I just wanted to die, but thought I might as well spend some money while I was at it."

"Preferences are family matters," the United States accepted our preferences without any protest, as did several European and South American countries. "But since 1933 and 1934 the United States has consistently endeavored to destroy those preferences by other countries than the family countries is essentially wrong, and it is because of that I find it so difficult to agree to these proposals."

Top Army Secrets

Middle East Invasion Was Planned by Hitler

NUERNBERG, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's top secret war orders showed today the Fuehrer once planned to invade the middle east, wage war on Turkey if necessary and that he made ready in 1940 to occupy all of France.

WHEN COL. GEN. Gustav Jodl, German army chief of staff, was captured last May he reluctantly surrendered a leather brief case which contained more than 30 of Hitler's original war orders.

Some of the orders have been submitted in evidence in the war crimes trial, in which Jodl is a defendant. The remainder kept in a bomb-proof safe, were made available to the Associated Press.

WAS ORDER NO. 3, dated Nov. 29, 1939, indicated that Hitler considered Great Britain his most formidable enemy and that the "pre-arranged" for final victory is to beat England.

To do this, once the Germans had disposed of the British-French expeditionary force, Hitler planned his navy and air force should bomb and blockade Britain into submission.

Apparently realizing that he had underestimated British tenacity, Hitler issued Order No. 30 on May 23, 1941, announcing his intention of supporting Iran against Britain as the first step of a Middle East offensive designed to weaken Britain.

"I HAVE THEREFORE decided," a subsequent order said, "to drive developments in the Middle East forward by supporting Iraq, Turkey and how the English position in connection with the offensive against the Suez canal—can be brought to collapse will be decided only after Barbarossa (an army code name for the invasion of Russia)."

The Middle East plan collapsed, obviously because the Red Army never did.

Not putting all his eggs in the Iranian basket, however, Hitler also ordered a "co-ordination of the fight against the British position in the Mediterranean and the Near and Middle East by a co-ordinated attack which is planned from Libya through Egypt, from Bulgaria through Turkey and possibly also from Transcaucasia through Iran."

SIX MONTHS after France surrendered to Germany in the early stages of the war, Hitler became

Britain and U.S.

Will Swap Films

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A reciprocal agreement for distribution of American and British films throughout the world was announced yesterday by Robert R. Young, holder of controlling interest in Pathe Industries, Inc., and J. Arthur Rank, head of the Rank Enterprises of Britain. Ten British films from the Rank Group and 10 American pictures for the young interests will be distributed under the trade-mark "Eagle Lion," starting September, 1946.

The Alberta government some time ago announced that all lotteries would be prohibited in the province after Jan. 1, 1946.

All Lotteries Go Under Ban By Ont. Order

TORONTO, Dec. 19.—(CP)—The Ontario attorney-general's department last night announced that from now on it will strictly enforce provisions of the criminal code prohibiting lotteries, raffles and bingo, other than occasional bingo for religious or charitable purposes.

THE CRIMINAL CODE forbids disposition of property, goods, wares and merchandise by lottery or raffle and the holding of bingo.

It also prohibits conducting or managing a lottery scheme, or advertising or publicizing such an enterprise, under penalty of two years' imprisonment and a fine not exceeding $2,000.

It is also an individual offence punishable by a $50 fine for anyone to buy, take or receive a lottery ticket.

THE EXCEPTIONS are that items of goods, wares and merchandise may be raffled for charitable or religious purposes where the consent of the municipality is first obtained, the items raffled do not exceed in value $50 and are first offered for sale, and that occasional bingo may be held for charitable and religious organizations if proceeds are to be used for a charitable or religious object.

Connections Are Established For Shipment of Raw Furs To World-Wide Sales Markets

Valuable connections which enable the direct shipment of furs from the Edmonton market to the world's most important fur sales outlets, have been established by Colin W. MacDonald, fur buyer, whose warehouse and offices opened in the basement of 10315 102 street on November 1.

MR. MACDONALD has been associated with one of the oldest fur companies in the Canadian west since he was 13 years old and was manager of a large fur department up until this year.

He has taken an active interest in every form of activity connected with the fur trade and is secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Fur Merchants Association, vice-president of the Edmonton branch and has been a judge of furs at the show ever since its establishment.

MR. MACDONALD is ambitious when he talks of his plans for the future. He foresees that the company bearing his name will play an important part in the development of northern Canada for fur trade and believes that Edmonton is one of the world's most important supply points for the world's supply of raw furs.

He has been active on conservation work, he says, since it was first started in Alberta some few years ago. There is still a noticeable drop in the production of raw furs from the north of Canada, he says, and it was to combat this tendency that he has taken a leading part in fur and wild life conservation work.

THE LOCAL OFFICE of his firm opened on Nov. 1, and he reports that his first month showed that the need for such an independent buyer with marketing facilities which are world-wide is seen in the local response he has already felt.

In line with his intention to give employment wherever possible to returned men his chief assistant at the Edmonton office is Frank Loggin, recently discharged from the army, who previous to the war had put in many years in the fur business.

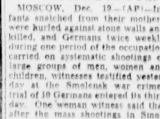

ANOTHER VETERAN already employed is E. Jones, holder of the DFC and Bar, also recently released from the services.

Today in Europe

Not so time in making this shroud suit to those who had been deceived by this wild day.

It is always easy to win the plaudits of the untimely millions by urging idealistic schemes which are impractical, but it is a dangerous game, as those who had pinned their faith to an unstable League of Nations found in 1939. It is probably inferred that the League did more harm than good by its well-meant but sincere declaration.

The reality of the situation was well understood by the London Spectator, a paper of moderate views on foreign affairs, which might be described as standing in Franklin Roosevelt's phrase, "a little left of centre."

"THIS (BEVIN'S) WORDS," wrote the Spectator, "are they stand as a dangerous encouragement to those thinking to talk about the peoples of the world electing their representatives to a world parliament when half of them have not got to the length of casting responsible votes for national parliaments is to dash recklessly forward into the present realities to a victory future."

"In there, a country in Asia in which voting for a national parliament is any better than a farce even if it exists at all? What kind of voting for a national parliament is there in Russia? And what prospect is there that a country like the United States would consent in any discernible future to submit itself to the decisions of any over-riding world parliament?"

"THESE THINGS MAY COME. Some day, no doubt, they will come. But the immediate task and an immense task is to make the United Nations Organization equal to the hopes inspired by it. To fix attention on the next task but one at this stage is a disastrous diversion and dissipation of energy."

Now it is common ground among nearly all students of politics that future wars are inevitable unless we can achieve some super world authority to which all the governments of the nations must consent, but this can never be achieved by getting fifty nations arguing around a table.

YOU CAN ONLY HOPE to build up a world state but to fail. Surely it is towards this practical policy that British and American statesmanship should be directed. It is not the first step in the building of a world state a merger between the British Empire and the United States? Even this, in the present climate of opinion, would be hard enough to achieve and would require a careful process of successful co-operation if it were to win the support of a majority of the British and American people.

Of course, one has only to make this suggestion to be told that such a grouping would alarm the rest of the world and in particular Soviet Russia. The answer to this is very simple. The Anglo-American alliance, merger, or whatever you choose to call it, would be entirely defensive and in no sense exclusive. If other powers were interested, they could be invited to join the club provided they were prepared to obey the rules.

IN ANY CASE, their alarm would quickly subside as it became apparent that this new grouping was in no way directed against anybody else, but was purely for mutual defence and prosperity. If it could be brought about, there is little doubt that within a few years there would be a stampede to join this

War Veterans' Yuletide Needs Greatest Ever

For wounded or sick veterans of two world wars in Edmonton hospitals, Christmas night might be just another day of pain and monotony but through the Canadian Legion Christmas Tree it is hoped to make it one day at least more bearable if not altogether a merry one.

SWEATERS, SCARVES, NICOTINES, pipes, tobacco, shaving sets, razor blades, articles of toiletary writing paper and the like are a few gifts that Edmontonians can feel assured will be highly appreciated by those brave men who have given and suffered so much for Canada and the Empire.

Gifts may be purchased anywhere in the city and taken to the T. Eaton Company (Western) Ltd. store on 101 street. There they will be gift-wrapped free of charge and placed on the tree in the store.

The names of all donors will be written on the packages.

THOSE WHO ARE unable to purchase gifts themselves will be able to help the Christmas Tree by turning in cash donations to the Legion.

No amount will be considered too small as with more than 700 disabled veterans now being cared for in seven city hospitals, the need for support of the Christmas Tree is the greatest in history.

GIFTS WILL BE distributed from the Memorial Hall and the Eaton store by volunteers and many more of these are needed for the big task. Those with cars wishing to help out in this way should contact Legion officials without delay.

THE LEGION CHRISTMAS Tree this year takes the place of The Edmonton Bulletin's Not-For-Gotten Fund of former years.

Former Resident Of City Sought

Mr. Cross described his institution, companion as a 60-year-old native of Belfast, Ireland, who has been in contact with his brother for many years. He is said to be most anxious to hear from him.

The ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

EVERY man dreams of the day that he will be his own boss. Ever since one man managed to persuade or force others to take orders from him this has been pictured in practically every man's mind as the ideal state—where you take orders from nobody but yourself, and better still, where you are in a position to give orders to others.

I Saw Today
It is NOT STRANGE, then, that many of the men now being discharged from the forces—men who have put five years between taking orders all day long, and every day, from somebody else—want to be their own bosses. It is only normal that a great many of our servicemen want to establish their own businesses.

The fact that the government has given considerable publicity to the fact that they are prepared to give limited assistance to those men who wish to buy or establish small businesses, has at least made it possible for each man in dream of becoming his own boss when he returns to civil life. The fact that government assistance is very definitely limited has not been so widely advertised. The fact that most men don't realize just what a hazardous thing it is to try to be your own boss has tended to make this question one of the major problems of rehabilitation today.

WHAT HASN'T BEEN GIVEN enough attention is the fact that the assistance which the government is prepared to offer is so limited that any veteran wanting to establish his own business—must have access to large private resources of capital—must actually continue on page 11.

To Select Actors For One-Act Play

175,000,000 Passengers Carried Since December, 1938

City Street Railway's Outstanding Record Speaks Loud and Plain to Spite "Grousers"

By J. V. O'NEILL

When a forceful sub-zero wind bites at the less protected areas of a city dweller's anatomy and only 15 minutes separate the alarmingly narrowing difference between arriving late on time for work, it is not difficult for him to build up an internal storm of resentment which usually finds expression in venomous mutterings aimed at either the elements or the transportation service. Usually it is the latter, since its control for the most part is in the hands of mortals like himself.

THE HUMAN CHARACTERISTIC of healthy growing finds its expression in the fact that even though said grousers are evened though a cheerfully blasphemous or radiant surrounded by other attractive supplementary comforts.

In conversational exchanges good and growing home appliances with many other doubtful distinctions the habit of venting brawls in especially chosen targets.

tion the habit of venting brawls in especially chosen targets. In common with almost every other city of large and growing proportions in Canada, Edmonton's street railway system has survived in an outstanding manner the storm and stresses due to its decision during the hard winter and weathering of wartime years.

IT HAS CARRIED NEARLY 175 million passengers since the first year of its operation in 1907. In the fiscal year in December 1938 to the end of October 1945, it carried 175,000,000 passengers. This is a record for any city in the world.

We must not forget that Edmonton's street railway system has carried that astronomical number of passengers from the end of 1907 to the end of October 1945. We all know there must have been a great number of repeats in transportation for a total of 175,000,000.

FIGURES ARE NOT ALWAYS as impressive as they seem. The fact that Edmonton's street railway system has survived in an outstanding manner the storm and stresses due to its decision during the hard winter and weathering of wartime years.

positions almost equals the total population of the 1940s a station on its own ground and weathering of wartime years.

Looking at it another way, let us estimate on an average of $15,000,000 counting it in corporate dollar value, the street railway system has been in operation for the past 38 years. It has been in operation for the past 38 years.

MUCH CREDIT is due to the operators for their hardihood and foresight in the face of the most trying periods in the history of the transportation system.

What do you think of the suggestion that Edmonton will see an eclipse of the sun in 1946? HAROLD THOMPSON, trucker, 1111, thinks the suggestion is ill-founded. Building has been reserved here, due to many war-time shortages and with the lifting of the ban on building, it is probable that there will be much building.

AFTER STALIN, WHAT?

Veiled in Mystery, Stalin at 66 Stands Supreme as World's Most Powerful Man

This is the first of three timely and authoritative dispatches by a outstanding author on Russian affairs. A second article by Mr. Lyons, entitled "Assignment in Utopia," appears tomorrow.

By EUGENE LYONS
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Generalissimo Josef Stalin, who reaches his sixty-sixth birthday on Dec. 21, is beyond comparison the most powerful human being in the world of living man. No other individual in our epoch, not even Adolf Hitler, has been so extravagantly glorified in his own lifetime.

HIS BIRTHDAY FINDS STALIN
Imprisoned in a black cloud of mystery streaked with purple rumors about his health and his political intentions. But nothing was so sinister as the right to a place among nations and continents has been given to the Great and Napoleon Bonaparte in the annals of mankind.

With the defeat of Japan, Russian might—and that the might of Stalin—overwhelms all of Asia. His policies and actions are the most decisive factors in shaping the postwar world scene. It is not too much to say that the fate of the human race in the atomic age is in largest measure in his hands.

MOREOVER, as the omnipotent leader of World Communism, Stalin exercises a vast influence in virtually every nation on earth. In non-Soviet lands, and in the law to millions of people, Communists whose first loyalty is to Russia rather than to their own countries.

Considering that he was born in a cubicle in a small town of Georgia, he has achieved a position of power and influence that is almost unparalleled in the history of man. He is the only man in the world who has been able to lead a nation of 150 million people to victory in a world war, and to emerge from it as the most powerful man in the world.

JOSEF VISSARIONOVICH Dzhugashvili, which is his real name, was born in the slummy hamlet of Gori, near Tiflis, in the Russian Caucasus, on December 18, 1879. He was a poor, uneducated boy, but he was a fighter, and he was a leader. He was a man who was born to lead, and he has led his people to victory in a world war.

He was a man who was born to lead, and he has led his people to victory in a world war. He was a man who was born to lead, and he has led his people to victory in a world war. He was a man who was born to lead, and he has led his people to victory in a world war.

Bukharin and the others held who remained, if limited, however, the dark-voiced Georgian proceeded to build a personal political machine. He operated so slowly, so deliberately, that few around him were aware of his growing influence.

LENIN WAS AMONG those few. In a document written in his last months of life, he warned against Stalin's "rude" methods and urged removal from the crucial post of secretary-general of the ruling party. By that time Stalin was so deeply entrenched that he could suppress Lenin's "last will" as he would a mere whim.

BY 1929 HE WAS VIRTUAL dictator. Turkey, his main rival, was in exile in Turkey, while the others were in prison in Leningrad. He was a man who was born to lead, and he has led his people to victory in a world war.

Butter and Cheese Production Down

Early snow and cold weather are said by officials of the dairy branch provincial department of agriculture to be largely responsible for a disappointing drop in provincial butter and cheese production in the month of November.

There was a marked decline in butter production of 27 per cent as compared to November 1944. Cheese production dropped sharply to 25 per cent.

The latter is due, the report continues, to the milk distributors of the province who drew heavily on these factories for supplies.

The southern section of the province shows the largest decline with 215 per cent of a drop while the central part of Alberta shows one of 127 per cent.

There were 1,864,249 pounds of butter produced in Alberta in November 1944, while this year for the same period the amount was 1,362,741 pounds. Butter production in 1944 was 2,234,249 pounds.

Bishop Predicts Third World War

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(CP)—Most Rev. C. A. Neagley, Anglican Archbishop of Huron diocese, is believed to have said yesterday that a third, and probably last, great war—against Russia—may result if the Soviet Union loses its present attitude towards "Russian" nations organization.

"Russia's present desire to be her own security and advance," said Archbishop Neagley, "is a statement of her own intention to be the London Council of Churches Mondo."

Japs Said "Cruel, Pretty Rugged"
The Japanese were "cruel and pretty rugged" was the only comment that Col. Stuart Secord of the United States Army Air Force made when asked concerning his treatment by the Japanese while a prisoner of war in Manchuria and at Tokyo.

Col. Secord, who was shot down over Manchuria during the famous raid on Tokyo last by Col. James H. Doolittle, is vice commander of the 1st, Harold Hayner, JAC, and is now resident in Calgary.

While having little to say concerning the vicious treatment of American war prisoners, the fact that Col. Secord, who weighed 192 pounds when shot down, came out of an internment camp on a litter and weighed only 102 pounds when rescued by American forces.

Some Confusion On U.S. Buildings

The taking over of buildings now being used by the American Army Air Force here by national housing officials has entered on a confused stage, according to information which could be gathered here Tuesday.

In attempting to trace down a rumor that the buildings which were to have been used by national housing authorities to ease Edmonton's desperate housing shortage it was found that little information was available.

An officer at the Northwest Air Command, RCAF, here drew a parallel with the desert Collegium which he admitted that there is some little confusion as to what may be done with the buildings.

"I'm waiting word from Ottawa on that question," Air Vice Marshal T. A. Lawrence, CB, said. "And I will let you know just as soon as I can what is to happen."

Underground Group Nabbed at Shanghai
SHANGHAI, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Chinese military headquarters, announcing the arrest of 20 Japanese and the seizure of a quantity of arms and ammunition, said yesterday it had broken up a small but potent underground group in the big Japanese-occupied city.

Lethbridge Wants Airport Authority

Lethbridge's authority to own and operate its airport is sought in an application for amendments to the city charter which will come before next session of the legislature, which opens either on Feb. 1 or 21.

Besides authority to own and operate the city asks authority to acquire adjacent lands, to sell or lease parts of the airport, for tax exemption and to operate a bus service at higher than the ordinary rates.

Ask Validation Of Agreement
Validation of an agreement with the Dominion for providing sites for low rental houses for war veterans is asked by the city of Lethbridge in a petition to the legislature for amendment of the city charter.

The agreement provides for exemption of these properties from taxes and certain other charges for 15 years in consideration of a fixed annual amount lower than the general rate.

The petition also asks for authority to enter into further agreements of the kind with the Dominion. The same application asks for validation of an agreement with the directors of the Veterans' Land Act to establish war veterans' city lands free of taxes until the agreement is completed and at a lower rate for 15 years thereafter.

CHRISTMAS IN CALY STREET

Six Christmas seasons endured by war are behind us . . . now we celebrate our first Christmas since Victory, bringing back the absent ones to bridge the years between with the joy of family reunions.

The old familiar things . . . the tree lights glowing in the windows . . . haunting echoes of carols long remembered . . . the happy flurry of excitement unwrapping the gay parcels on Christmas morn . . . these have a deeper meaning now.

Let's make it a really Merry Christmas—an old-fashioned festive season for enjoying the good things of the table and the quiet pleasures of home firesides.

But, in our season of rejoicing with the men returned from overseas we shall remember those yet to come home . . . the valiant wounded in our military hospitals . . . and all those in less fortunate circumstances than our own.

MONTREAL, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Twenty Canadian civilian repatriates from Germany, many from German prison camps, arrived yesterday from New York, where they landed yesterday from the liner Gripsholm.

Arriving from Hong Kong, was a man who had been in that city for a year, who had been in that city for a year, who had been in that city for a year.
